Elvis J. Stahr Quits President's Cabinet

Army Secretary Returning to University Job

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Elvis J. Stahr Jr., 46, resigned today as secretary of the Army to become president of Indiana University.

President Kennedy accepted Stahr's resignation with "regret and reluctance."

He praised the secretary for providing "an outstanding example of good management."

Stahr will be returning to the college ranks when he takes over the Indiana University presidency July 1. When named by Kennedy to the Army post in January, 1961, he was serving as president of West Virginia University.

Ailes Highly Regarded

Pentagon observers said Army Undersecretary Stephen Ailes looks like the best bet to succeed Stahr in the Pentagon position unless Kennedy and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara have a previously unmentioned outsider in mind.

Lobby for Medicare Revealed

White House in Work on Public

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said today a special task force has been operating within the executive branch to provide the public with information on behalf of President Kennedy's controversial medical care program.

This was disclosed when reporters asked about a news dispatch in the New York Herald Tribune to the effect that Richard Maguire, as an assistant to the President, had been handling White House "lobbying" for the medical program which would be financed through social security.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said Maguire left the White House several weeks ago to become treasurer of the Democratic National Committee.

Mass Meeting Slated Tuesday

A Citizens Committee campaign for support of the $1,965,000 bond issue proposed for the Palm Springs Unified School District will be launched at a mass meeting Tuesday, it was announced today.

Joel Stone, Citizens Committee chairman, urged that residents willing to work for success of the bond proposition turn out for this organizational session.

At a meeting yesterday Stone reported that a board of 10 speakers who have appeared at group meetings telling the needs for a new junior high school report receptive and interested audiences.

From now on, citizens working for passage of the bond issue must plan to campaign daily, announced Stone, immediate past president of the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce.

Bond issue supporters urge a "yea" vote on the bond issue to finance construction of a new junior high school to alleviate present crowded conditions and to meet anticipated enrollment growth.

The new school will permit the high school, increasing space transfer of grades now handled at available at that facility, school officials report. It also will eliminate the need for staggered and double sessions at both junior high and high school levels.

Cost to the taxpayers is estimated at $3.57 per year on a $15,000 home and at $8.26 per year on a $28,000 home, or about 59 cents a month, with assessments decreasing as valuation of the district increases.

County CD Directors in Local Meet

Riverside county community Civil Defense directors began a workshop meeting in the Palm Springs police department at 10 a.m. today, to polish plans and coordinate activities.

Lt. Ted Green, Palm Springs coordinator under Police Chief A. G. Kettmann, who works under policy guidance of City Manager Dan Wagner, termed the meeting a "work session for directors in the county system."

Col. Melville Stark, county Civil Defense director, called the meeting. Wagner and Kettmann, prime movers in the city and CD district seven organization, greeted the CD workers and received an outline of the workshop agenda.

Cosmonaut, President In Meeting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov, his flight from New York delayed by weather, arrived here today for meetings Thursday with President Kennedy and astronaut John Glenn.

The White House arranged the meeting Thursday between the President and Titov while the Russian spaceman was winging toward Washington from New York, where he concluded a three-day visit.

Titov's plane touched down at National Airport at 9:46 a.m. PDT. After an airport welcome, he left by car for lunch and a news conference at the Soviet Embassy here.

The Russian cosmonaut, who said he encountered no hitches in his trips around the earth in a spacecraft, said he wanted to compare notes with Glenn about the mysterious flecks of light both saw in space.

Titov had been scheduled to land at Andrews Air Force Base in nearby Maryland, but shortly before his scheduled landing, a group of 100 to 200 persons waiting for him was told his touchdown site had been changed to National Airport because of weather.

His landing time was delayed 40 minutes to give representatives of Iron Curtain embassies and other well wishers time to get from one airport to the other.

Many of the women in the crowd carried flowers for Titov's pretty wife, Tamara, who accompanied him on a four-engine turboprop Russian plane.

In a statement prepared for his arrival, Titov said he hoped his meeting with Glenn "will be useful for us and also for our common cause of outer space exploration."

Kissin' Jim Out In Primary Race

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — A scrappy circuit judge who once said he would choose jail to integration and the dapper scion of an old Alabama political family today appeared headed into a runoff for the governorship.

Former Gov. James (Kissin' Jim) Folsom was running a hard third in the seven-man race but it was doubtful that even a late surge of rural votes for the homespun Folsom could propel him into one of the top two spots.

NEWS in BRIEF

Horrible Blast Sets Off Riots

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI) — Terrorists blew up a booby-trapped automobile in the midst of a crowd of Moslem dock workers today, killing and wounding dozens and setting off violent Moslem rioting.

The blast was believed to be the work of the outlawed Secret Army Organization.

Police said at least eight were killed and 100 injured in the explosion. But they said the figures probably would rise sharply. One Moslem bystander said he counted at least 30 dead and 70 wounded.

Many of the dock workers had taken their children with them to the hiring shed near where the explosion occurred, since they felt the youngsters were safer there than elsewhere in the city. Reliable reports said six children between the ages of 9 and 14 were among the injured.

Enraged Moslems rioted after the explosion. They caught one European and slit his throat.

French security forces cordoned off the area and sent in Moslem nationalist police in an attempt to quiet the howling Moslems.

Indians Push Zoning on Section 14

Immediate zoning on Section 14 was asked today by the Agua Caliente Indian Tribal Council.

The council, in a letter to City Manager Dan Wagner signed by Mrs. Eileen Miguel, tribal chairman, termed the zoning action "imperative."

The tribal council letter was written in answer to a letter from Wagner relaying the city council's offer for joint study of the zoning problem.

The city council's offer for the dual study came after the tribal council wrote a letter asking for speed in zoning Section 14 in the city's heartland. Mrs. Dora Prieto, vice chairman, told the city council the Indians wanted to get things started.

In the letter received by Wagner today, the tribal council emphasized that "it is apparent no further delay would be justified."

The tribal spokesmen reviewed plans for a new zoning ordinance here, and stated the tribe "went along" with zoning delays after being assured the new ordinance would be prepared approximately two years ago.

"Maximum economic development of Section 14 makes action now imperative," the tribal council wrote. The tribe has indicated that new zoning now could be incorporated in the new zoning ordinance on a 30-day advisory basis.

Plans for the structure to be built on a South Seas theme were announced late yesterday by Kenneth K. Kimes, developer and co-owner, who said the project will include a restaurant, cocktail lounge and service shops.

Industry Recruitment Survey Set For City

Palm Springs is going to survey the industry recruitment procedure.

The city council, on a motion by Councilwoman Mary Carlin, asked for the report after City Manager Dan Wagner reviews available industrial property here. Mrs. Carlin called for a survey to determine how cities of comparable size — and some larger — have gained new garden-type industrial plants.

Wagner reported that he will contact city managers, officials of state offices, the League of California Cities and other sources to compile a review of industrial wooing by small cities.

Business climate, tax structure, utility rates and transportation have been cited as prime factors in plant location studies. Palm Springs, now studying clean industry, has previously been vociferously opposed to other industries to augment the city's resort income.

Last-Ditch Try Against Bus Strike

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Labor and management representatives were to meet this afternoon in a last-ditch attempt to avert a scheduled walkout by Metropolitan Transit Authority drivers.

The strike was set for one minute after midnight tonight. Three hours of talks with State Conciliator Gary Ellingsworth Tuesday failed to break the deadlock. Officials of both MTA and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen said there was little hope agreement would be reached.

About 750,000 commuters would be affected if the 2,700 bus and streetcar operators walk out. A strike was halted six weeks ago by a court injunction which expired last Sunday night.

Hot Springs Fund Drive Saturday

DESERT HOT SPRINGS — The United Community Fund Inc., of Desert Hot Springs will launch its 1962 fund raising campaign Saturday, James G. Pack, chairman, said today.

"We did not have a drive in 1961," Pack explained, "Consequently our funds are extremely limited."

The $3,100 goal has been earmarked for use as follows: $1,750 to be used as indicated for families in need of financial assistance; $500 for Boy Scouts; $500 for youth activities. $350 would be kept on hand to be used as a reserve fund and to cover such miscellaneous expenses as printing.

"Our population is now well over the three thousand mark," Pack said, and our goal could be easily reached if each member of the community were to give one dollar.

Members of the local Senior Citizens' Club have been asked to make a house to house canvass leaving a remittance envelope at each door, he said.

To assist him with the drive Pack has appointed a steering committee composed of Rev. Charles E. Harwood, Rev. Archie Matson, Donald Hulbert, Rabbi Isaac E. Bloch and Father Herbert J. Cook.

Oxygen Failure Halt's Principal's Flight to Moon

Principal Warren Danielson of Cielo Vista School took a trip on a moon rocket. It has been reported that on the return flight he ran out of oxygen. Fortunately, however, he recovered from this mishap and is now back on the job.

To board the moon rocket Danielson left his office and walked to the first grade classroom. Here the pupils and their teacher, Mrs. Judy Bashore, introduced him to two "real" rocket ships, Rudolph F604-1 and Silver Dart X4. They supplied the principal with a space helmet, special shoes and an oxygen tank. At the close of the count down he was off into the classroom space.

Danielson returned to his office, pondering no doubt, on the fact that the first graders may be making real moon trips during their life spans.

City to Look Close at Urban Renewal for Spa

A clear look at Urban Renewal for Palm Springs has been ordered by the city council.

The council, in a minute order to the planning department, has asked that Walter Slattery, Urban Renewal, representatives who briefed the planning commission on available programs, prepare a survey of eligibility.

If Palm Springs is deemed eligible from data gathered in a preliminary study, the city may ask for federal funds to prepare a detailed study here.

Councilman George E. Beebe Jr., told the council that Urban Renewal may be one answer to upgrading midtown business and gaining new off-street parking.

Slattery, who outlined the federal funds procedures for advances, loans and grants, emphasized last week that he wouldn't make a guess about city qualification for the federal program.

6 The Desert Sun

Wednesday, May 2, 1962
Palm Springs, California

Waltah and Gretchen Clarke, whose Hawaiian shops that are scattered all over the country these days, give them such a perfect excuse to commute to Honolulu, are off again and have taken George Vanderbilt's house there for a month's stay. Lucky, lucky, lucky!

Titled: "It Could Only Happen in Palm Springs". Locale: The Cork and Bottle. Cast: Kirk Douglas, starring, with a supporting cast of Ben Blank, operator of the shop, and two tourists. No cameras, no director.

The scene opens as Kirk walks in and picks up a paper, tosses his dime on the counter and starts talking golf with Ben. While they are conversing the door opens and a young couple walk in. Dropping his paper Kirk walks over to greet the newcomers and asks what he can do for them. When he finds out they wish a bottle of wine, he personally escorts them into the wine cellar and helps select a bottle of wine.

The pretty young bride, a visitor here from the Pacific Northwest, called up Ben the next morning to say she had heard Palm Springs was a magic place... and she would never forget that the star of "Spartacus" (Kirk deserves one plug out of this) has played this off-screen role just from sheer exuberance.

THREE BIRTHDAYS occasioned the party, when announcement was made of the betrothal of Jeannie Stuart and Dan Borden, who are planning a June wedding.

Jeannie Stuart To Be Bride Of Dan Borden

At a surprise party that celebrated three birthdays, the engagement of Jeannie Stuart and Dan Borden was announced to family and a few close friends, at a party held at the home of the bride-elect's mother at 251 Via Sol.

It was the birthday of Jeannie and her twin sister, daughters of Mrs. Cecile Stuart and Sam Stuart of Palm Springs, and also the birthday of Jeannie's fiancé Dan Borden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Borden of Tracy, Calif. Among those present was Jennie's twin sister Judy (Mrs. Ron) Cole of Riverside.

The engagement was revealed, when Jeannie opened a birthday gift, a box of chocolates, which contained her diamond engagement ring.

The young couple has selected June 10 as their wedding date and will be married in an afternoon ceremony at the Riviera hotel.

Jeannie graduated from Palm Valley School in 1959 and from Lawton Medical Assistant School in Beverly Hills, and is presently working at Desert Hospital.

A graduate of Tracy schools, her fiancé owns a refrigeration and air conditioning business in Pittsburg, Calif., where they plan to make their home.

Lou Mawby, who has been with Chi Chi since 1949 (except for one year in Alaska) has sold out his interests in the Chi Chi operation to his two partners, Julian Stiff and LeRoy Burgener and has left this week for Fontana where he will be at Harold's. Lou was with Harold once before for a four year period, and now has an interest in the nightclub. The Mawbys and their two children David and Merry moved into their new Fontana home yesterday.

Frankie (Mrs. Leo) Spitz writes the most fascinating cards from the most interesting places. The latest says "One must see Casablanca to believe it. Teeming masses, veiled women, jillions of children covered with sores." She says only industry, birth control and DDT can start a small dent in the enormous problems the government faces.

She also mentioned the French gals outside the old city and the closing line is the best, "Sex is stronger than the Atlantic cable."

I just moved Casablanca away down on the list of places I just HAVE to see. I'd rather remember the old Humphrey Bogart films, that are still showing on television.

A more recent airmail letter comes from Algeria which is a real hot spot, so much so that the passengers were advised not to leave the ship. Typically Frankie, she moans for a newspaper to find out how the Angels and Dodgers are doing.

Still in Palm Springs, Dana Wynter and Greg Bautzer were dining at Aloha Jhoe's the other evening, with the Bill Peribergs at a nearby table.

An invitation from Hank Untermyer in San Francisco bids us to attend a "Cook-In" (that's the opposite of the Cook-Outs he and Elaine stage out at the Relay Station when they visit here) at their Cherry Street home, honoring some New York friends who used to ride in Central Park with him. There's another party we missed. Hank has his own company now SFINDSCO, Inc., with each letter standing for a country, Swedish-Finnish - Icelandic - Norwegian-Danish etc. and is off to Europe May 18 to visit all the Scandinavian countries and a few others and will try to get into Moscow. Elaine will join him in Bermuda on his way home.

If you have already left Palm Springs for your summer home, someone should tell you that the palo verde trees are sunshiny with blossoms, the oleanders are blooming profusely and the jacaranda trees are in bouquet. There are still crevices of snow on the mountains and it's good tennis and golf weather, and don't you wish you were here?

Girl Scouts At Orange Show

Girl Scout Troop 410 of Cathedral City had a booth at the 50th Anniversary Girl Scout Fair held at the Orange Show Grounds, San Bernardino.

Girls participating in the activity were: Sue Ellen Wolf, Toni Mosca, Linda Cooper, Debbie Rodman, Sonalie McGarry, Candace Smith, Kathy Karr and Jamie Wills. Mrs. Harvey Cooper, Mrs. James Mosca and Mrs. Louis Stock accompanied the troop.

The billowy look in bridal fashions has been replaced with a sleeker one in summer 1962 gowns. Traditional hoops under the skirt are passe.

From the fabulous land of the fjords...

Barbara Ann now bakes for you a delightful and hearty type of bread enjoyed for generations in Norway!

From the fabulous land of the fjords, Barbara Ann has brought to America a recipe for a remarkable loaf of bread.

It has been baked for generations in Norway for shepherds to take on their long vigils in the remote, mountainous grazing regions.

This special type of bread is high in food value, delightful in taste and has extraordinary keeping qualities. The extra purity of the ingredients and the special method of baking make these features possible.

Every detail of this valuable recipe is faithfully followed by the Barbara Ann bakers. We believe, that when you try Shepherd Boy bread, you, too, will say that it's remarkable!

Horsey Ed Is Getting Big Head

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Inflated egos among human performers are not unusual following the Annual Academy Awards, but a fat-headed horse is something else again.

Mr. Ed, the palomino television star, collected a Patsy Award last week as the best animal video actor and he's been horsing around ever since.

According to pretty Connie Hines, who costars in the "Mr. Ed" series, the equine Barrymore was temperamental enough before he nosed out dogs Lassie and Tramp for the highest acting award an animal can win.

"I can't complain about playing second fiddle to 'Mr. Ed,'" Connie said honestly. "After all Allen Young and I haven't even been nominated for Emmy awards."

Temperamental Ed

"But Ed will really be hard to live with now. He knows darned well he's the star of the show and he won't let us forget it."

The oatin orator (he talks on the show) is given to walking off the set when he's fatigued or out of sorts.

"I'll never forget how angry I was when the director called me on my day off," Connie recalled. "I asked why I had to rush to the studio and he said, 'Mr. Ed walked off in a huff and we'll just have to shoot around him.'"

"That was the day they put poor Ed through a car wash and I guess he thought it was beneath his dignity."

On another occasion the nag, bored with a surfeit of retakes, simply turned tail, stamped his hoof and marched straightaway to his stable dressing room.

"When we called to him to come back," Connie laughed, "he looked over his shoulder contemptuously and kept right on walking."

Young, who plays Connie's husband on the show, realized it pays to keep the star happy. Last year during the summer layoff he visited Ed at his ranch a couple of times.

"You can't help but love Ed," Connie explained.

Horsing Around

"I've found a spot on his stomach that he loves to have scratched."

"Trouble is he's falling in love with my perfume and likes to nuzzle the back of my neck. It drives me crazy. In the middle of a scene he'll sidle up to me and slobber on my neck. I break up and we have to do the scene over again."

Ed's awareness of his importance on the CBS show is reflected in his working hours. The hayburner works in the morning and takes the afternoons off.

"There's no question about it," Connie concluded. "The rest of us plan our schedules at his convenience. Talk about horse sense, Mr. Ed's got it."

Drill Deep Into Earth Near Hawaii

LA JOLLA (UPI)—An Ocean location in the Hawaiian chain today was considered a possible site for Project Mohole, which involves drilling a hole to the earth's unexplored depths.

Dr. George S. Shor, associate research geophysicist in charge of site research on the federal project, said a "fairly good possible" about 120 miles north of the island of Maui—third largest of the Hawaiian islands.

Shor returned Monday from a six-week trip, "Expedition Hilo," to explore possible Mohole sites. Shor said the Maui area of the ocean under consideration was about 13,000 feet deep and the distance from the surface of the water to the "Moho" was about 33,000 feet.

Nip Cubs, 6-5

Early a.m. Single Wins For LA Dodgers in 16th

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Third string catcher Doug Camilli, making only his second appearance at the plate this season, singled in a tie-breaking run early today to give the Los Angeles Dodgers a 6-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs in 16 innings.

But as the Dodgers rested a waiting tonight's final game of the series with the Cubs, manager Walter Alton fumed over their sloppy performance and said they should have won in nine regulation innings.

Two of the few performers on either team who saw no action, Sandy Koufax, 4-1, the Dodgers' strikeout king of the majors, and Bob Buhl, 0-1, just acquired by the Cubs from Milwaukee, were tonight's rival pitchers.

The Tuesday game lasted five hours and six minutes and 40 players got into the action. The game came within one minute of being called as a tie under the national league regulation that no inning may start after 12:50 a.m.

But the 16th inning made the deadline, and after the Cubs failed to score, pinch hitter Daryl Spencer led off with a walk and Willie Davis followed with a single. Then Andy Carey forced Spencer at third and Camilli came up. He singled to center to score Davis from second to end the game. It was Camilli's second hit in two times at bat this season.

The contest was the longest played by the Dodgers since they came to Los Angeles. The previous record was 14 inning game on October 1, 1960, also with the Cubs, which Chicago won.

In Tuesday night's game the Dodgers held a 3-2 lead in the eighth when Ernie Banks got to second on Willie Davis' two base error, and he scored on George Altman's single.

After six scoreless innings, both clubs tallied in the 15th. For the Cubs, catcher Moe Thacker drove in Andre Rodgers who had singled, and then scored on Ken Hubbs single. For the Dodgers, Wally Moon singled with the bases loaded to score Maury Willis and Andy Carey.

Ed Roebuck, the fourth pitcher in relief of starter Don Drysdale, got credit for the win as he worked the final inning. Glen Hobbie, who pitched two thirds of an inning and gave up the game-winning run, was the loser.

The game failed to break the mark for extra innings this season in the National League. On April 25, Houston and St. Louis battled 17 innings to a 5-5 tie and the game was called after five hours and 13 minutes because of the curfew.

Snead in Spotlight

Golf Pros in Vegas to Snag Silver Dollars

LAS VEGAS (UPI)—Sam Snead plays for the Amos Alonzo Stagg Golf Foundation today and the rest of the all-star golfing crew take their final practice swings for the Tournament of Champions opener Thursday.

Arnold Palmer, who wins just about everything he sets his mind to, has been installed the 5-1 favorite. Gene Littler, who has won this event three times, is rated at 8-1.

But Snead will hold the spotlight today. Although defending champion, he is rated no better than 12-1 in the Tournament of Champions betting.

His score today will go into the records for the Stagg Foundation with players, using their handicaps, battling against it throughout the nation.

Slammin' Sammy got ready for his Staff Foundation round with a pair of sub-par performances—all the while complaining that his putting was betraying his whole game.

"I've lost the stroke I had when I won this tournament last year," he said. "I can't hit two putts alike—even if I know the roll of the green. I pull one, then push the next. Don't know what's wrong."

The betting marts have Doug Ford, Jay Hebert, Phil Rodgers and Doug Sanders rated at 12-1 with Snead.

Here again, in a correct golf swing, the left arm is straight; it has not folded in like the right arm. At the start of the swing, my left hand was thirty-two inches from my chin. At the top of the swing, it is still thirty-two inches from the chin. It did not change. In other words, the left hand traveled well over a foot farther than the right on the backswing. It is the lever that gives true leverage and control.

Clip Indians, 8-6

Wagner's Four-Baggers Pace Angels Victory

CLEVELAND (UPI) — To Leon Wagner all that stuff about short-fenced Wrigley Field being responsible for his home-run clouting last year was a lot of bunk.

"Listen," said the muscular Los Angeles Angels outfielder, "when I hit them, I hit them. They'll go out in any park."

Wagner, certainly an honest judge of his ability, slammed two tremendous homers Tuesday night to pace the Angels over Cleveland, 8-6, and take over the lead in the major leagues' home run derby with eight.

It was the fifth and six homers for Wagner in the Angels' last seven games. Last season he slugged 28 in all to lead the then new Los Angeles club in four baggers.

The Angels close out their road trip and the two-game series with the Indians tonight in a game scheduled to be televised into the Southern California area. Ken Mc Bride (1-3) was named to pitch for Los Angeles and Dick Donovan (4-0) for Cleveland.

Wagner's first homer of the game came off starter and losing pitcher Sam McDowell with two on base, landing over the screen in right center field at the base of the 435 foot marker.

With the Angels ahead 4-1 in the second Wagner slammed another one over the fence in the same place with nobody on base.

Rookie Bo Belinsky gave up six hits through the first five innings before being lifted in the sixth after Cleveland scored once and had the bases loaded with one out. However, the loquacious rookie got credit for the victory, running his record to 3-0.

Wagner wasn't the only one whacking the ball over the fence. Earl Averill also hit a home run for Los Angeles, while Chuck Es-segian, Gene Green and pinch hitter A Luplow banged homers for the Indians.

NEARING 34.5 years of postal service, Palm Springs Postmaster S. Merritt Williams plans June 30 retirement. Williams was second postal employe here, now heads a staff of 75 workers. (Desert Sun Photo)

NOW RETIRING

Spa's 2nd Postman

By PEYTON CANARY

S. Merritt Williams, the man behind America's most glamorous postmark, is going fishing. Williams, 55, a Kansas small town boy who helped Palm Springs grow to national prominence as the sun's winter home, has applied for retirement from the postal service after 34.5 years.

"Of course I'll miss it — but after all these years, you get a feeling you've put in your time," Williams told The Desert Sun.

Started in 1928 Williams, who joined the post office here in Jan. 1928, has applied for retirement June 30. In the intervening years, annual postal receipts have grown from $5,500 to more than $424,000.

The flood of mail into this oasis has risen to a veritable paper avalanche. During the Christmas season peak, more than 83,000 pieces of mail a day got the busy postmark of Palm Springs.

During the seven months of the season swell, an average 100,000 pieces of mail are handled — incoming and outgoing — through the modern new building at 849 N. Palm Canyon Drive.

Looking Expert A man who has become expert at looking at stamps from around the world, Williams is not a stamp collector.

"I sometimes wish I had started," he mused, but added "postmasters probably get tired of looking at all those commemorative stamps." Some special issue rolls off the highspeed Government Printing Office presses each week, he explained.

Williams, who has served in the post office system under five Presidents, boarded a train for Palm Springs the night he graduated from high school in Labette, Kan. He joined postmaster Carl Lykken, who operated a general store and thus the postal service.

The couples will begin arriving at 7 p.m. They will be served a dinner. Dancing will be to five piece orchestra of Ben Pollock.

She is survived by one daughter, Joan Nickerson of Palm Springs; two sons, Thomas Dawson of Hollywood and Richard W. Dawson of Albion; and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a.m. Thursday in St. Paul's of the Desert Church, with the Rev. Fredrick Barnhill, pastor, officiating. Interment will be in Montecito Memorial Park, San Bernardino.

Jackson to Move Up In Position

Ray Jackson, director of Indian affairs in Palm Springs for more than four years, has been transferred and will leave within a week for Washington, D. C.

He will become chief of the acquisition and disposal section, realty branch, in the office of Commissioner of Indian Affairs on May 21.

John F. Lewis, Jackson's present assistant, will become acting director in Palm Springs. Appointment of a new director will be made at a later date. It was announced.

Jackson, 34, has been one of the most active directors in Palm Springs Indian history. His four and one-half years on the job saw more than $6 million of Indian land sold, including the $3 million Palm Springs Airport, the advent of long-term leasing and for granting of the right of way for Tahquitz-McCallum.

During his service, the local Indian office carried out the Agua Caliente Tribe equalization program, which gave each member of the tribe a minimum of $350,000 value in land holdings.

Prior to coming to Palm Springs, Jackson was with the Missouri River Division, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers for six years. He came to the resort city in August 1957, became acting director of the local bureau in May 1958 and was appointed permanent director one year later. He is married and has five children.

VOLUME 1 BELLOWS GAZETTE NUMBER 1

WHEN GOLD WAS DISCOVERED at Sutter's Mill, Bellows & Company already had an 18-year reputation for delivering the best in taste. Many of our exotic foods, spices and spirits came from various ports of call visited by ships returning from the West via the Horn.

By the turn of the century, we were serving our third generation of notable customers. And shortly thereafter our new Bellows "electrics" made their appearance as the latest word in delivery trucks.

TODAY, you can still discover the golden taste of the good old days in two exquisite whiskies bearing the Bellows name. They are both of finest Kentucky quality, yet they are eminently reasonable in price.

Our BELLOWS CLUB BOURBON is Kentucky whiskey of the highest order. Mellow and most flavorful—it typifies the emphasis we place on quality, yet it is not premium in price.

Our BELLOWS PARTNERS CHOICE has won favor as the choicest of all blended whiskies. You will find it to be rich in Kentucky flavor—immensely satisfying in taste and in price.

Italian Film Will Close Museum's Classics Series

"Miracle in Milan" produced in Italy in 1952 and winner for that year of the Grand Prize at the Cannes Film Festival, the International Critics Award and the New York Film Critics Award, will be the last offering this season of the Film Classics series sponsored by the Desert Art Center.

The film will be shown at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Desert Museum Auditorium, 135 East Tahquitz Drive.

"Miracle in Milan" is one of the great humanist works of Vittorio de Sica, director of "Bicycle Thief" and "Umberto D." The theme is human brotherhood; the form a comic fable — part social satire and part fantasy. The actors, Francesco Golisano, Paolo Stoppa and Emma Gramatica, are among Italy's most renowned.

The documentary, "Greek Sculpture," winner of the first prize at the Art Film Festival in Bergamo, Italy, was directed by Basil Wright and Michael Ayrton. It is a majestic survey of Greek sculpture from the earliest beginnings to the Parthenon friezes, with the British sculptor, Henry Moore, to illustrate the techniques.

THREE RIVIERAS

Cinderella Gets Fella In Springs Romance

(EDITOR'S NOTE — None of the facts or characters in this tale is at all fictitious and all similarity to living persons is entirely intended. Only the story has been altered slightly to protect any innocent readers.)

Once upon a year ago there was a Palm Springs Cinderella named Bettina del Rio, who kept the local sheep from her door by holding a job as publicity director for a kindly hotel owner named Irvin Schuman.

Now there were those around the Riviera who were cynical about romance, but not Bettina. She was convinced that to find real romance you just had to be at the right place at the right time.

And sure enough, life for Bettina made a dramatic change after she had stepped into her glass slipper one midnight. A tall, charming and wealthy European industrialist-inventor named Gunner Frenger arrived as a guest at the hotel.

Cupid Strikes
They say it was love at first sight.

Bettina recalls seeing a distinguished looking, peasant dining alone with champagne at his table. Gunner reports he remembers seeing a beautiful brunette pass his table and thinking that he would like to be introduced to her.

The matter of the right time and right place came about through an arrangement made by the kindly hotelkeeper for an interview of Gunner by Bettina next day. It's reported they immediately found common interests in art, vintage wines and languages. Gunner speaks eight languages fluently. Bettina spoke two, and now after letting this Norwegian wolf in the door and spending a year with him on the Italian and French Riviera, the new Mrs. Gunner Frenger can tell all about Little Red Ridinghood in four languages.

Most fables would end at this point with the newlyweds living happily ever after, but not this wild dream—there's trouble ahead for the musician's guild.

Like Story Books
It seems that this Norwegian inventor was tinkering with his record player and he had the volume up high when he put on a platter that the former Cinderella, Bettina Hoodingride del Rio had recorded as a gift to her loving mama. "Not for mama, for mio," exclaimed Bettina's solo smitten mate.

It happened just like in the storybooks. He hastened out to hire conductors, voice trainers and orchestra leaders — determined to launch his pretty spouse on a professional singing career from the top instead of at the bottom.

And here's where the limburger turns up in Otto's woodpile—he's gonna cut himself a piece from this deal as her manager and publicity director.

But is our Cinderella's cider colored by such a bad apple? Not by the skin of his long peppy white smile. She's happy all the while.

Proud and Happy
First of all, she says she's very proud to be Mrs. Gunner Frenger and the distaff head of a pad that holds all of those air conditioning and refrigeration patents.

And she says it has been most fascinating and fun to jump down into the professional recording business; also that she expects to come up with great thrill when all her albums and films are released on the world market soon.

Singing with the famous 33-piece top orchestra in Oslo and with the Milano orchestra also was an unforgettable thrill.

Such was the outlook Friday as the happy couple explained to return from Palm Springs to their three-story villa on the Italian Riviera and their summe islands in Norway.

And Gunner "The Wolf" Frenger — Well, he says he finds living in the United States very interesting and is considering buying a winter home in the Palm Springs area, but he must have one with a stable and a string of horses.

Consumer Program by JFK Said Long-Range

By GEORGE J. MARDER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy's program to protect consumers and give them a voice in government cannot be dealt with in a single session of Congress.
Some of his proposals already are being pushed, not with the hope all will pass this year but to start an educational campaign aimed at congressional action in the years ahead.
One of the most controversial involves the drug industry. The President threw the full support of his administration behind a bill to give the government power to decide that new drugs are good as well as safe before they are allowed on the market.
At present, the government can demand evidence from a manufacturer that his drug is safe before it is sold to the consumer. And if there is any doubt, the food and drug administration can test the drug itself. Thus, certain safety standards are set up.
If there still is doubt, the government can keep the drugs off the market until they are made safe and proved safe. In other words, the government doesn't have to wait until the health of consumers is damaged before keeping a dangerous drug from being sold.

But that is not the case as to the effectiveness of a drug. There, the government can act only after the drug has been placed on the market. It can move only to take it off the market for failing to live up to its advertised effectiveness.
The President's overall consumer proposal would give the government power to act before the drug is sold, just as it does in the case of safety. To be more explicit, tests would have to prove that the drugs are as good as claimed.
Arguments for the President's bill add up to this: That the consumers are entitled to government protection before they buy, not after a product has sold for millions of dollars.
Kennedy put it this way: "People are entitled to the same protection we have been giving hogs, sheep and cattle since 1913." That is when Congress gave the government authority to forbid the marketing of worthless serums and drugs for animals—before they were sold.
The opposition to the President's program argues, for instance, that the drug power he proposes would have the government decide what is good and what is bad in medicine; that this is something only for the medical profession to decide; that one drug may be worthless for one patient, good for another, and excellent for still another.

BOLT HITS HENHOUSE
HAMILTON, Tex. (UPI) — A lightning bolt roasted 2,500 hens in their cages Monday at a poultry plant.

"A lot of them were still standing up roasted," Alton Wilson, owner of the plant, said.

The President may have foreseen this. He promised to appoint a Consumers Advisory Council to keep the administration abreast of how it can help the consumers.

It's Later Than We Think

In just a little more than a year from today, the first 80 passengers will board one of the Palm Springs Aerial Tramway cars at the valley station at an elevation of 2,643 feet and ride in comfort through rugged Chino Canyon to the mountain station, more than a mile higher at 8,516 feet. The 13,200-foot ride will take but a matter of minutes.

It still is difficult for some of the long-time residents of Palm Springs to realize that the middle of May, 1963, is the target date for completion of this tremendous project.

They remember the quarter of a century of planning, successes and disappointments and many of them grew skeptical and lost hope.

But that first ride is scheduled for mid-May next year and many of the seats on that trip have already been spoken for.

Conservative estimates fix the average daily patronage of the giant lift at 2,000 per day. And as many will stay for more than one day, the lure of the Tramway ride will fill beds and restaurants in the city and surroundings and many of those who stay over will decide they want to live here.

All of this means a great boost to the city's economy.

But it also means that any traffic congestion we have had in the past will seem like deserted streets in comparison to what is coming.

The Palm Springs Traffic Commission has recognized the problems which will arise as thousands drive here to take the Tramway ride and to experience the magnificent view of the desert from the upper station.

They have asked the City Council to give immediate attention to the adoption and construction of an intersection plan at the Tramway road and North Palm Canyon Drive. This plan has been prepared by Public Works Director Tom Essen. It is designed to forestall the threat of congestion and to handle an estimated 2,500 cars on a peak day for the Tramway and an estimated 70,000 automobiles during a peak month.

The State Division of Highways, in its $4.2 billion plan for freeways in the state during the next eight years, included funds for construction of a Freeway from the junction of Highway 111 and U.S. Highways 60-70-99 northwest of the city to the present northern end of the four-lane highway near Whitewater Point. It is expected to be completed "in four or five years" according to reports.

Plans have been approved for the improvement of Vista Chino eastward to the 60-70-99 freeway and an interchange to facilitate safe traffic movement there. This will provide a new entrance into the city. Plans have also been discussed for widening and improvement of Indian Avenue to the freeway from Palm Springs.

No completion dates have been indicated for either of these two projects and with the Highway 111 widening set for "four or five years", all three may be a little late.

In addition to immediate action on the Traffic Commissions resolution to handle traffic at the road leading to the Tramway, the City Council might well petition the state to speed action on these projects outside of the city limits.

A little more than a year may seem like a long time but if you say "54 weeks" it doesn't seem so far in the future.

All possible action should be taken or started now.

It's later than we think.

Praise from the Teenagers

The teenagers have come and gone and Palm Springs is back in its normal groove and, to the delighted surprise of many people, none the worse for the presence of 5,000 vacationing high school and college young people during Easter week.

Following three years of increasing rowdiness each year, the situation did a sharp about-face this year. Complaints from visitors and residents dropped, traffic citations declined, during the week. There were more arrests but this was because the city's curfew law was more strictly enforced by the police.

Chief of Police A. G. Kettmann's dictum of "law enforcement with tact but unyielding firmness" carried out by an efficient staff and reserves with the aid of the Highway Patrol, was a success and the behavior of the vast majority of our visitors made the entire week a pleasant one despite the few who could not resist rowdiness.

That the efforts of the police were fully appreciated by the teenagers who were here for a vacation and just that, not a Halloween in spring, is shown in a letter received by Chief Kettmann from a 17-year-old North Hollywood youth.

"You and your force should be commended on the fine job that you have done during the past week. Undoubtedly you will receive many letters and phone calls from irate pranksters protesting the way you handled the situation. Please do not let these ignorant remarks alter your present policy. Take it from one who is in a position to know, the only way to handle these 'children' is the way you have, the boy wrote. 'Continue your fine work.'"

Chief Kettmann's comment was that the boy's letter certainly made up for all of the extra, hard work he and his staff experienced during the week.

HOLMES ALEXANDER:

Class Warfare: USA - Albert Gore

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Senator Albert Gore (D-Tenn) seemed a welcome addition to the Citadel in 1953 when he moved over from the House, replacing a very tired old man, Kenneth McKeller.

Gentle of voice and manner, cherubic of countenance, sharp of mind and wit, handsome in face and carriage, Gore gave every promise of adding luster to his position and the body where he sat. He seemed the last man in town to develop into what is now called an "extremist". More amazing still, this Senator, who has a thriving business in the milling of feed grains, and comes close to being a millionaire in his own right, is radical in his prejudice against American business.

I first visited Gore in 1954 during the early phases of the business campaign against the Dixie-Yates contract, a pact intended by the Eisenhower Administration to put private investment to work in the generation of electricity. From the press gallery it appeared that Gore leaped to the destruction of Dixie-Yates with the vengeful relish of a zealot at an infidel's throat. When I carried this impression to Gore, he pointed out his own business connections and said that I was all wrong about him.

But nothing in the intervening years, while I watched Gore's incessant carping at business, changed my opinion and much has recently happened to confirm it. Along with several Democrats who nurture a distrust for the free enterprise system, Gore was relatively quiescent during the Administration's honeymoon with business. But since the love period ended in the stormy hassle over steel prices, Gore has been in the role of a foremost avenger. On April 4, 1962, everything looked hunky-dory in the Steel industry. President Kennedy had skillfully used the prestige of his office to bring about the employment contract between the major steel companies and the Steelworker's Union. The White House was jubilant because the terms of the contract were regarded as non-inflationary and because now there would be no strike in this vital industry.

Was Gore happy about this idea, situation? No, because on that day he rose in the Senate to laud the President and the contract, but also to show his distrust and dislike of the Steel business.

"I am drafting and will shortly introduce in the Senate," he announced, "a bill to authorize the establishment of a National Consumers Advisory Board."

Walter Reuther later suggested a similar plan for taking steel prices "to the people". It'll be a sad day for American enterprise when we set prices by popularity polls.

On April 11, everything was in a turmoil for Steel. At an afternoon press conference the day before, President Kennedy had given Big Steel the historic chewing out for raising prices, had called down upon the hapless steel-mongers a tornado of popular abuse, and had set in motion various forms of Federal Vengeance against Steel.

Not Satisfied

Was Gore happy? No, he wasn't satisfied. Again he took the Senate floor, this time to read a long scroll of proposed punishments for the industry, as yet not proved guilty of anything. One of his proposals was that Steel be placed under a regulatory agency like the railroads and airlines, which would set prices and standards. This, of course, is next door to nationalization.

On April 16th a still different situation prevailed. Over the weekend, Big Steel and other firms capitulated by rescinding the $6-a-ton price hike. The Administration had won a smashing and popular victory. The housewife, the car buyer, the Secretary of Defense and the taxpayer were presumably all happy—but was Albert Gore.

Alas, no. He was back on the Senate floor that Monday for another attack on Steel, notably the U.S. Steel Corp. He called this company a "national problem," "an inefficient company" which was "run by the money-market manipulators, not steel manufacturers." He went on to tell "our corporate giants" how to run their businesses. He ended by submitting his three bills and by urging the Senate to begin instant hearings.

Each of these occasions found a different situation on Steel, but Senator Gore remained adamant. Whatever the business atmosphere he was against business.

R. F. "Phat" GRAETTINGER

You pass up salt,
Can drink no malt,
Hard liquor you must shun,
Pie a la mode
More pounds forbode,
To lose weight ain't no fun.

On top of all this eschewing of excess chewing, you're told to stir around a bit, take a little exercise.

"Don't just sit there, dreaming of chocolate eclairs, take a walk and surprise your leg muscles," said the man with the stethoscope hanging around his neck.

THAT'S VERY EASY for the medic to say. He may be wearing size 46 belt but he wants you to resurrect the icpick to punch an extra hole or two in a size 36 belt so that you don't risk the chance of being embarrassed in public. Or have to keep your hands in your pants pockets as a precautionary measure.

My doctor, however, has psychological leanings. He told me how to make myself look like a hero instead of a heel.

THAT'S WHEN I'm invited to a home where the main event is a groaning table and the men all tuck napkins under their chins and put on exhibitions of plain and fancy two-fisted knife and fork work.

It used to be that when I was on a diet but got a plate heaped up in an imitation of the Matterhorn, and left most of it, that she took the remainder away in a huff and plainly indicated that she thought me a spoil-sport.

NOW I BLAME it all on the doctor. I mournfully look at all of that good food and sigh. A doleful recital that I must watch my belt line or be therceptic of flowers I was in no condition to appreciate, follows and succeeds in taking off the heat. "My, I wish I had that will power," they all say admiringly. I'm a hero.

They don't know it cost like Gehenna, or a reasonable facsimile, to have my pants and belts cut down and more holes punched in the latter, and I don't want to have to dig up again to reverse the operation.

IT SEEMS THAT these United States are not alone in seeing many a historic spot or quiet place of natural beauty disappear under the impact of the bulldozer, to be replaced by endless rows of a housing development. The spots where a man can go to get away from it all—A-bombs, taxes, inflation and fund-solicitors—are growing more and more in short supply.

There's a brawl brewing in Scotland, too. The government there wants to tap Loch Lomond with dams to provide mre water for households and industry. All true Scots are girding for the battle. They want no dams, power sites, filters on the "bonny, bonny banks of Loch Lomond."

Dear Abby...

DEAR ABBY: As a disinterested third party, your advice is needed. My brother's wife is running around and everyone in our little town knows it but him. She uses all sorts of lame excuses to get out of the house "for an hour" and comes in at midnight with more lies. My brother works 12 hours a day trying to provide for her and their three children. She sleeps till noon and lets the children fend for themselves. The house is a mess. She dresses like a street-walker and her children look like war orphans. Would you advise me to give her enough rope to hang herself? Or should I tell my brother? We are decent people and everyone is talking. —"G."

DEAR "G.": It would be pretty hard for a man not to be aware that his wife dresses like a "street-walker" and his children look like "war orphans." If your brother really is having the wool pulled over his eyes — don't be sheepish. Tell him!

DEAR ABBY: You said, "Just because there's chrome on the dome doesn't mean there is no power under the hood." Will you please tell me how "you" know? I KNOW

DEAR I: Some of my best friends are mechanics.

DEAR ABBY: If a baby-sitter is asked to come to sit from 7:00 P. M. until midnight, what do you think about this situation? I arrived promptly at seven. The parents were nowhere near ready to leave the house. At eight, they left, saying, "Well, that's one hour less of your time sorry." They came back at a quarter to one — exactly 45 minutes later than they promised, saying, "Sorry we're a few minutes late, ha, ha." Then I got paid for four hours. What would "you" do?—OVERWORKED AND UNDERPAID

DEAR O. AND U.: I would tell them they owed me for five hours and 45 minutes and no "ha ha" about it.

DEAR ABBY: I am in love with a nice fellow and he has asked me to marry him. I would like to have a big church wedding and wear a white gown and veil, and have a large reception. I had a child. A few in the family know about it. Should I tell my future husband about it? I gave the baby up for adoption. I was only 15 at the time and I am 19 now. —SECRET KEPT

DEAR SECRET: Do not make a mockery of a large wedding with a gown and veil. And by all means, "tell" your future husband.

Remember When

May 2, 1952
Faces of Stay - Through - May boosters were red as the thermometer boiled up over 100 degrees for the first time in 1952. The maximum was 103.

Signs at the converted army barracks serving as a city hall at the airport were attacked as giving first-time visitors a bad impression of Palm Springs.

April building permits totalled $310,700 and for the first four months of 1952, $1,633,180.

May 2, 1942
Dr. Russell M. Gray, after a conference with army officials at Torney General Hospital, formerly El Mirador Hotel, said emergency service would be available for civilians of Palm Springs at the hospital.

Mayor Frank Shannon tossed out the first ball, Councilman Frank Pershing was behind the plate and Councilman Phil Boyd called "baw-w-w-l!" as the Soft-ball season got under way.

Mrs. Nellie Coffman of the Desert Inn was in Riverside Community Hospital as result of a broken wrist suffered in a fall.

May 2, 1932
With the planting of Washingtonian palms on North Palm Canyon Drive by A. F. Hicks and more Palo Verde Trees down town on the Drive, the tree planting campaign sponsored by the chamber of commerce will come to an end for the year, J. J. Kocher, chairman, said.

Other Editors

(Lessburg, Gla. Commercial)
With astonishment we learned that the government of India relaxed its rigid prohibition of liquor in order to permit a supply aboard the special train carrying Mrs. Kennedy and her entourage.

Even though social drinking is still controversial, it has achieved a certain public acceptance in the United States and Western Europe. In the cultures of the Indian and Moslem world, however, this isn't the case. Drinking whisky is regarded there as moral depravity.

The news item didn't say whether the whisky had been requested by the Americans, or whether it was permitted by the Indians only in anticipation of their guests' desires. Nor did we learn from the printed account whether there was any drinking in front of Indian nationals during the trip through India.

But if U.S. official visitors disregarded the custom and morality of their hosts, then their behavior must be regarded, at best as thoughtless and foolish.

The Duke of Windsor Has the Right Answer

At King Features Syndicate Bantam luncheon for the visiting publishers at the Waldorf, Carol Burnett of the Electronic Pictures was introduced to the Duke of Windsor.

Carol happens to be one of the most articulate dames of our time, and certainly she is among the very few comedienne who can get a true belly-laugh out of a room full of male hormones. But something about the Duke short circuited her aplomb.

"Lean over and say something to him," her cameraman subtly roared, aiming his magic box.

Carol did just that, awash in trepidation.

"Say something!" she was again ordered.

Carol gulped and said, "How do you like it here in our country, your Highness?"

The Duke, who first came to the U.S. a few years before Carol was born, responded with unswerving gallantry, "Well, I must say, Miss Burnett, that after a long and earnest study I find this country absolutely enchanting."

Curt by Burt

Burt Lancaster is a first class performer on and off the screen. He was being interviewed at Shor's place about his newest picture, "Birdman of Alcatraz." A string of patrons, young and old, approached him with menus and asked him to affix thereto his autograph. In time a nice lady vectored in on him and said, "My son Johnny would never forgive me if I told him I had been in the same restaurant as you and didn't get your autograph. He liked you so much in 'Spartacus.'"

Burt amiably nodded his thanks, then wrote across the face of the proffered menu:

"Good Luck, Johnny — Curt Douglas."

At the Overseas Press Club, Maj. Gen. T. P. Gerrity, youthful commander of the Ballistic Systems Division of Air Force, silenced the assembled reporters with lines like these:

"The overall ballistic missile effort is unparalleled in history of the world. The scope and magnitude of this multi-billion dollar program is something that cannot be described in simple words. We have never before attempted to use the length and breadth of the United States as the final assembly line for a weapons system."

"Our contractors span the country, from Seattle to Boston. The site activation area encompasses some 100,000 square miles. Our first Minuteman site near Great Falls, Montana, covers an area 50 by 100 square miles, and to drive to each site requires some 3,500 road miles, an area twice the size of the state of Maryland. If that does not give you an idea of the magnitude of that single job, consider that you could take the combined areas of New York, Chicago and Washington, D.C., and swallow it up 25 times."

And:

Close to Estimates
"The U. S. Intercontinental Ballistic Missile program, now budgeted at $17,000,000,000 is very close to original estimates, and as now constituted represents only one-twentieth of one per cent of the gross national income over the life span of the program . . . while we began our program some five years after the Soviets, we have in less than a decade—actually gained five years on them in terms of ballistic missile numbers and technical capability."

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Bernard Gallagher, who has to return a 7-month-old gorilla to Washington National Zoo after caring for it since its birth: "It's just like losing my own children."

SOUTHAMPTON England — Maj. John Scott, who trapped his wayward parrot "Colonel" by feeding the bird sunflower seeds soaked in Scotch: "Colonel's still pickled, but otherwise he's fine."

Ketch Skipper Killed Four Aboard Bluebelle

MIAMI, FL. (UPI)—The Coast Guard has concluded that skipper Julian A. Harvey of the ill-fated ketch Bluebelle killed at least four of his passengers, then scuttled his ship and saved himself.

The Bluebelle went down off the Bahamas last Nov. 12.

The Coast Guard, in a bulky final report on its five and one-half month investigation, said it could not ascertain Harvey's motives, but said "the facts that he was sole beneficiary of his wife's insurance policy and that he was sorely in need of funds must be considered."

"It was a near miracle," that Terry Jo Duperrault, 11, survived four days on a raft at sea after the ship went down with her parents, brother and sister, and Harvey's wife, the Coast Guard said.

The conclusions in the report said that Harvey did not harm

Programs At Museum Announced

Bird and nature walks and showing of the colored movie "Afghanistan" are scheduled for the season's final month of Desert Museum, it has been announced.

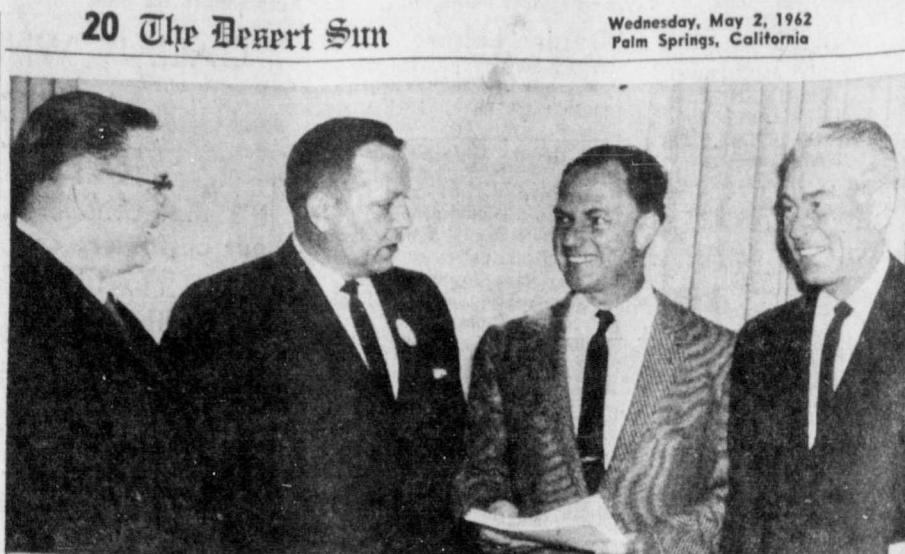

The bird walks are set for Saturday by Mrs. W. Scott, starting at 8 a.m. in front of the museum.

A nature walk to Millard Canyon is scheduled for Saturday, and another to Santa Rosa Mountain the following Saturday from the museum, starting at 10 a.m., with M. Pidot leading the groups and discussing flora, fauna and geology of the areas. Participants must dress appropriately for hiking and carry lunch and water, the announcement noted.

"Afghanistan," the fifth in the "World Around Us" series, will be presented by Raphael Green in Marcuse Auditorium of the museum at 8 p.m. this evening, free to all members and for a moderate charge to other viewers.

The "Direct Approach" photographic exhibit, featuring Adams, the Westons, Jones, plus painting by Charles LaMond and John Burgess are on display in the Upstairs Gallery of the museum until May 15.

The museum will close at the end of May, to reopen Oct. 1.

Cosmonaut Titov Expects Walking in Space Ships

NEW YORK (UPI) — Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov, 27, said Tuesday "the time is not far away when we'll be walking around the cabin" of space vehicles.

Titov, on his last day of sight-seeing here before going to Washington, said he stood up in his space capsule during his 17 orbits around the earth because he could not reach the ceiling from his seat. But he said he did not try to walk around.

In a television interview, Titov said he didn't think it was "quite convenient" for U.S. astronaut John Glenn to work inside his capsule, judging from films he had seen. He indicated free movement inside the capsule would be more convenient.

The Soviet cosmonaut attended a luncheon at the Overseas Press Club.

The Soviet major and his attractive wife, Tamara, 24, were guests of honor at an evening reception at the Russian Mission.
